Overview

The Third International Conference on Advanced Computing and Data Sciences (ICACDS 2024) will be held in the vibrant city of Ghaziabad, India, from April 12-13, 2024. This esteemed conference provides a global platform for researchers, industry leaders, and policy experts to exchange ideas, present groundbreaking research, and foster collaborations in advanced computing and data sciences.

Conference Scope

ICACDS 2024 embraces a comprehensive scope, covering a wide spectrum of research topics, including:

- Advanced Computing Architectures
- Big Data Analytics and Data Mining
- Cloud Computing and Fog Computing
- Data Science and Machine Learning
- High-Performance Computing and Simulation
- Internet of Things (IoT) and Sensor Networks

Keynote Speakers

ICACDS 2024 is honored to feature an illustrious lineup of keynote speakers who are renowned for their seminal contributions to the field:

- Dr. Maria-Florina Balcan, Professor, Carnegie Mellon University
- Dr. Geoffrey Hinton, VP and Engineering Fellow, Google
- Dr. Vijay Narayanan, VP of Research and Development, Adobe

Benefits of Attending

By participating in ICACDS 2024, attendees will gain invaluable benefits:

- Present your research to a global audience
- Network with leading researchers and industry experts
- Stay abreast of the latest advancements in computing and data sciences
- Collaborate with potential partners
- Contribute to the advancement of the field

Submission Guidelines

Researchers are invited to submit original, unpublished research papers in any of the conference topics. Submissions should follow the IEEE conference format and must be submitted through the conference submission system. The deadline for paper submission is January 15, 2024.

Conference Venue

ICACDS 2024 will be held at the prestigious Indira Gandhi National Open University (IGNOU) in Ghaziabad, India. The university is renowned for its research excellence and state-of-the-art facilities.
